WHERE IS GOD?

"Mammy, where is God?"
asked Thomas one day.
His brow curled up and
his hands out wide.

“Is he way up there in the middle of the clouds?

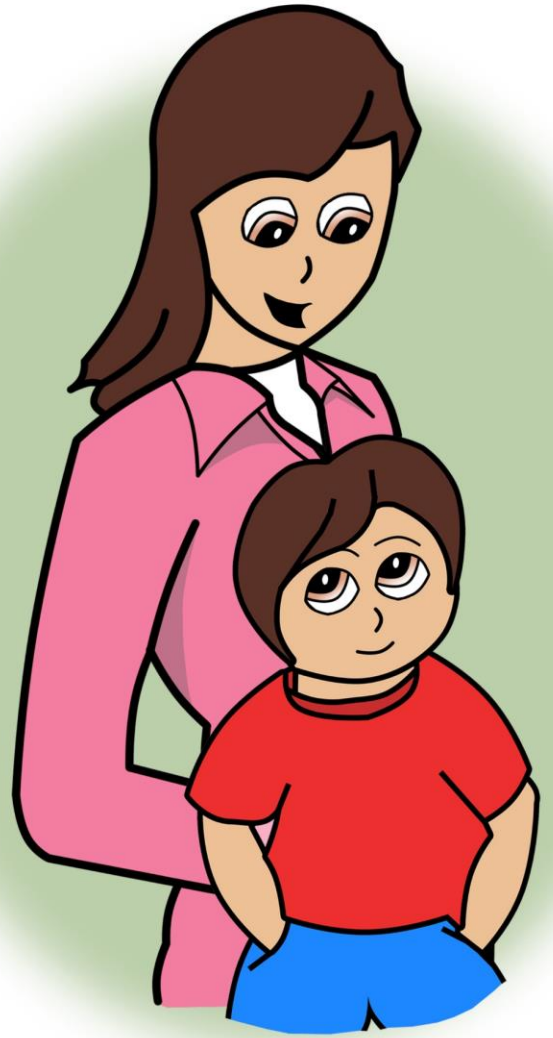
Has he a big long beard?
Are there angels at his side?”



“Thomas,” mammy smiled,
“Where do I start?”

“God is everywhere, when you look with your heart.”

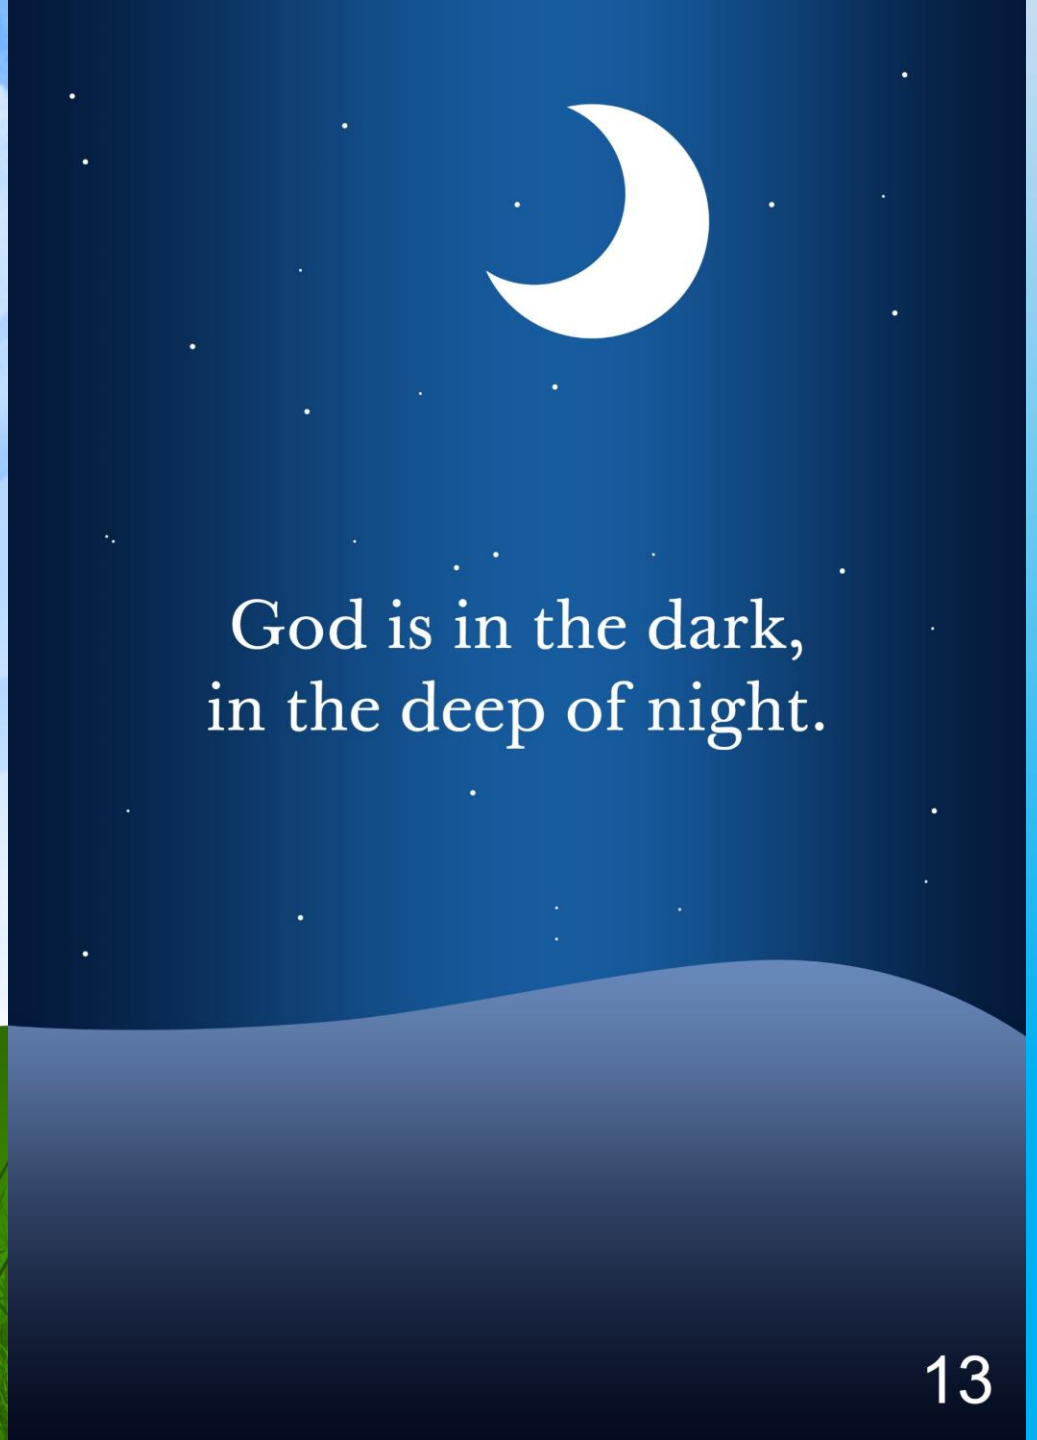
God is in the sun,
in the moon, in the stars,

God is in the wind,
in the rain, in the showers.

God is in the cold,
in the frost and snow,

God is in the heat,
in the fire's warm glow.

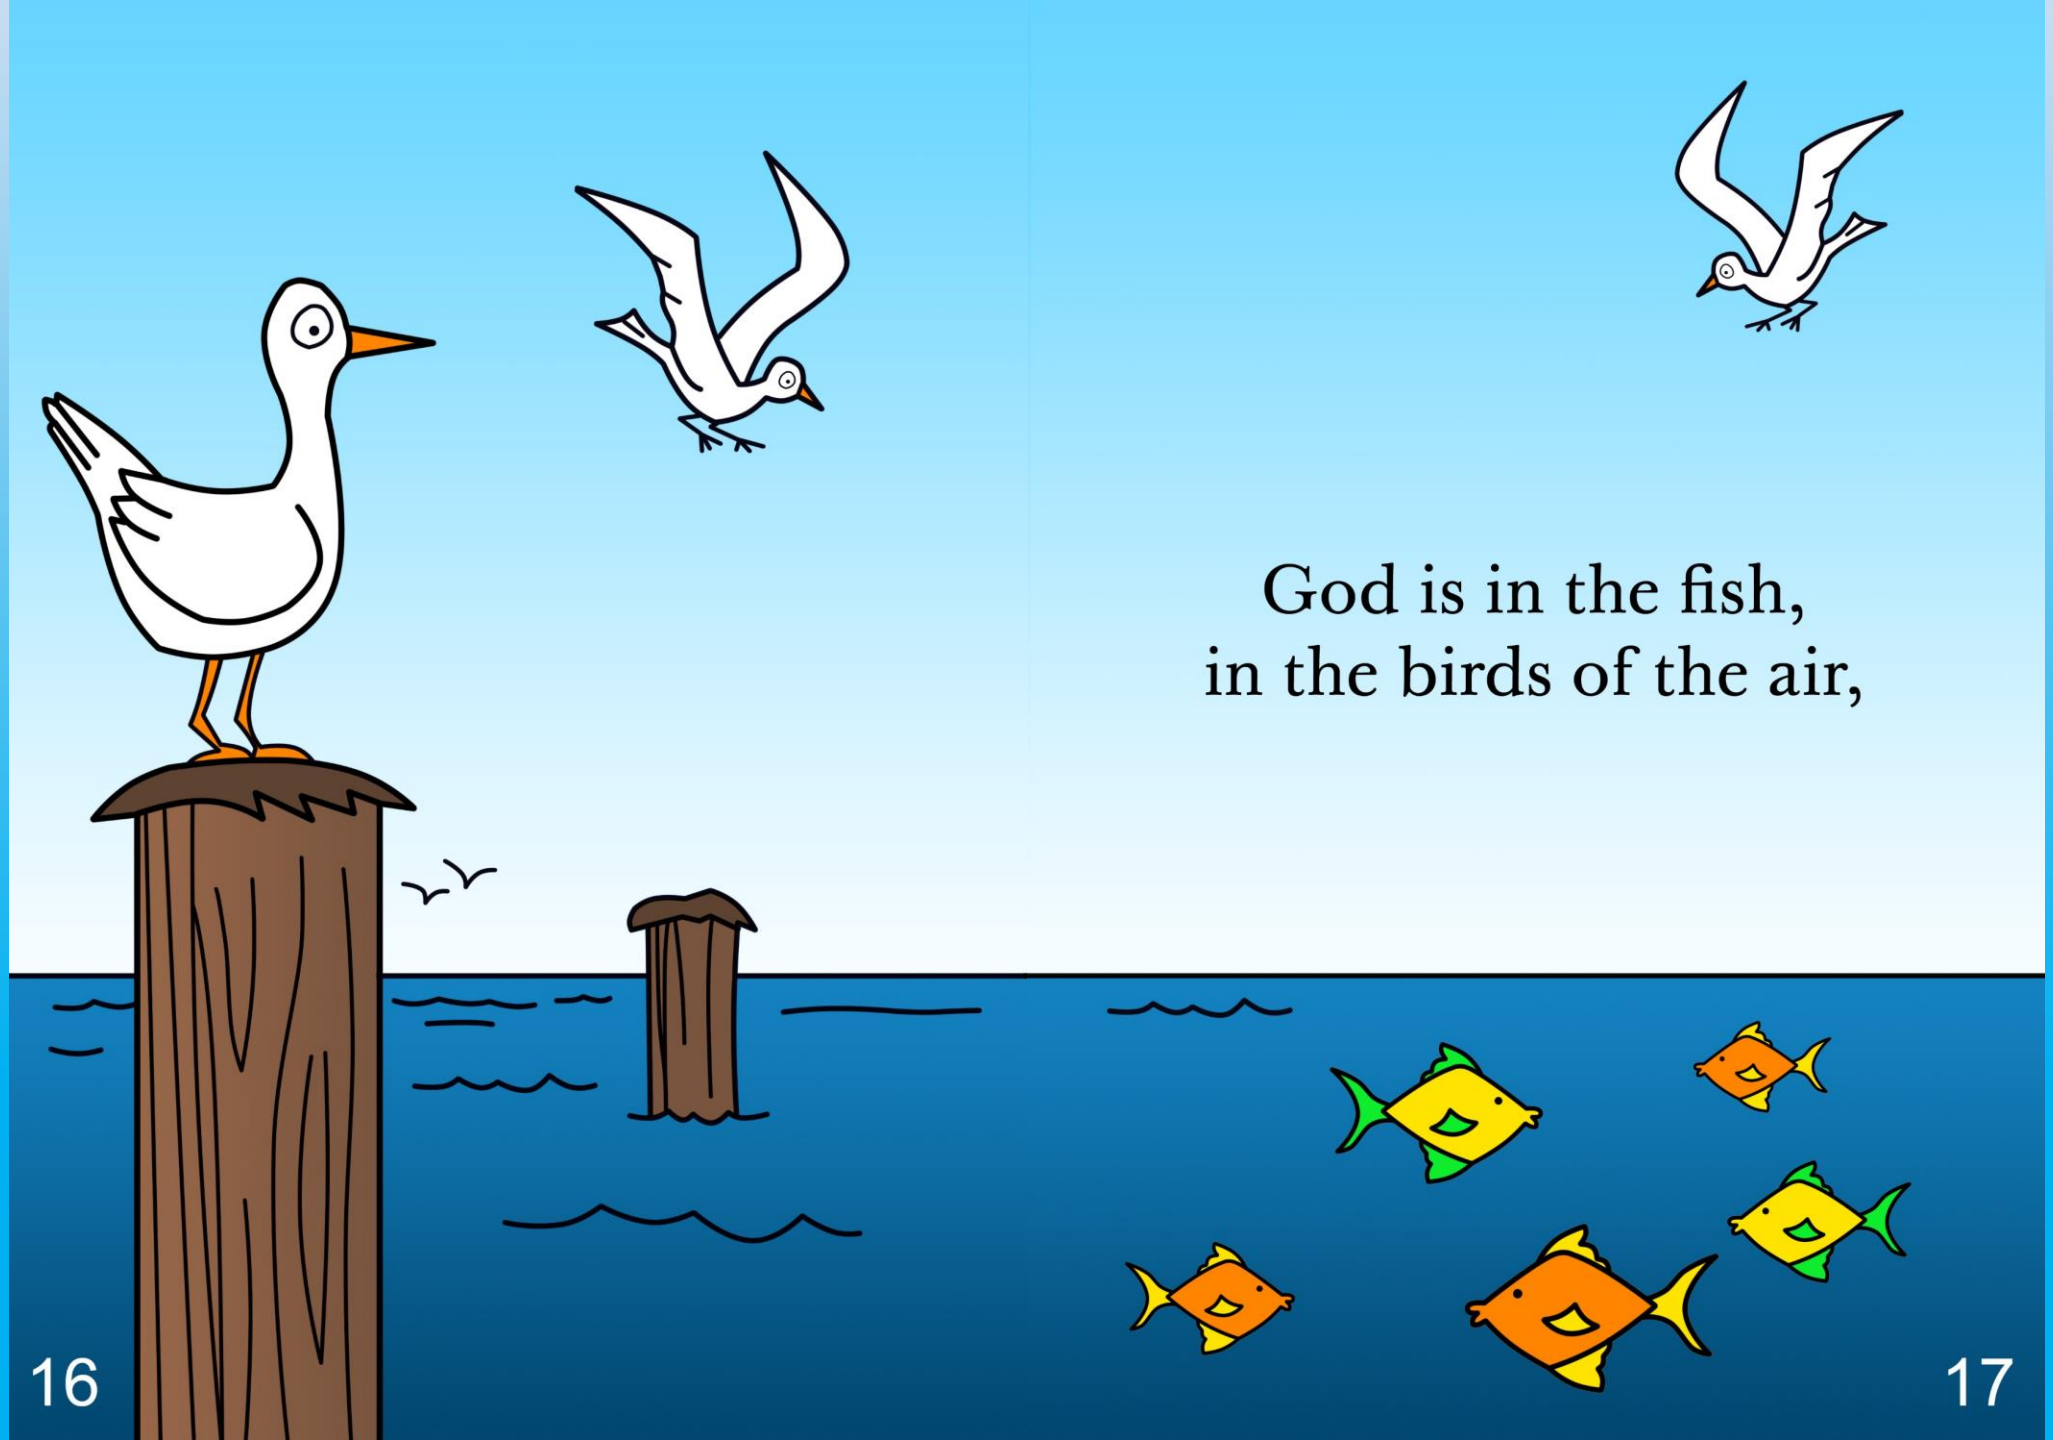
God is in the day,
in the sun, in the light,



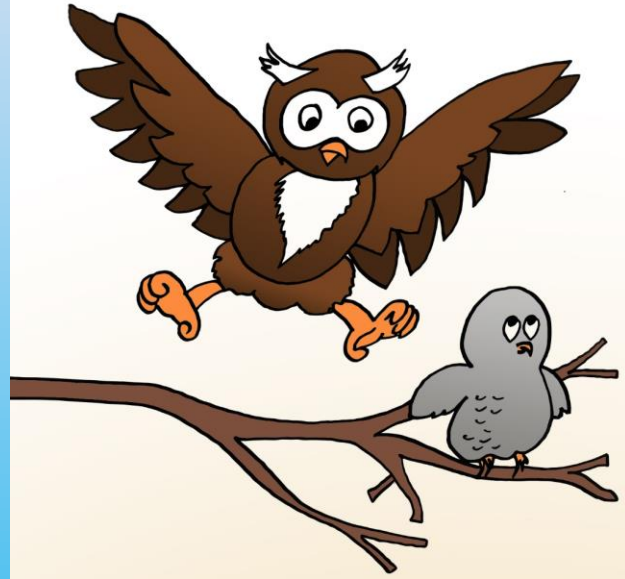
God is in the dark,
in the deep of night.

God is in the hills,
in the deep blue seas,

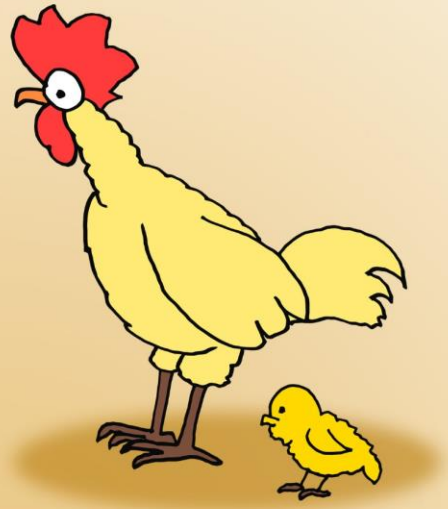
God is in the plants,
in the forest full of trees.



God is in the fish,
in the birds of the air,



God is in the animals,



wild, tame and rare.

God is in all the people you know,
Trying each day to let his love show."

"Oh," Thomas smiled.
"Mammy now I see,
God is in you and God is in me.

God is all around me,
everywhere I go,
Keeping me close,
watching me grow.

And so each day
I must look with my heart

At everything and everyone
as God's work of art!"
